I. OVERVIEW

[1] Hamed Heydari, the Complainant, has failed to meet Tribunal deadlines to proceed with his complaint. Since May of 2024, the Tribunal has attempted to contact the Complainant several times, but he has not responded to any of the Tribunal's communications.

[2] Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC), the Respondent, argues that the Tribunal should dismiss the complaint because the Complainant has failed to pursue his complaint, has not respected the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal's Rules of Procedure, 2021 SOR/2021-137 (the "Rules of Procedure"), has not met any deadlines and has not responded to the Tribunal's numerous attempts at contact.

[3] The Canadian Human Rights Commission (the "Commission") did not make any submissions and is not participating in this matter.

II. DECISION

[4] The complaint is dismissed as abandoned. The Complainant has not participated in the complaint process and has not responded to any of the Tribunal communications to advance the complaint.

III. ANALYSIS

[5] The Tribunal must conduct proceedings as informally and expeditiously as the requirements of natural justice and the rules of procedure allow (s. 48.9(1) of the Canadian Human Rights Act, R.S.C., 1985, c. H-6). The Tribunal's Rules of Procedure are to be interpreted and applied to secure the informal, expeditious and fair determination of every inquiry on its merits.

[6] Administrative tribunals are masters in their own house. The Tribunal can dismiss a complaint if a party does not comply with its Rules of Procedure (Rule 9) and can make any order it considers necessary against vexatious conduct or abuse of process (Rule 10).

[7] It is the complainant's responsibility to advance their file and to provide their contact information (Towedo v Correctional Service Canada, 2024 CHRT 6 at paras 4–5; Mohamed v Royal Bank of Canada, 2024 CHRT 84 at para 11). The other parties are also entitled to have their complaints addressed in a timely way (Rivard v. Nak'azdli Whut'en First Nation, 2021 CHRT 21 at para 39). Failing to appear or to otherwise participate in the process can result in a complaint being dismissed as abandoned (Sewap v. Correctional Service Canada, 2024 CHRT 97).

[8] At the beginning of May 2024, the Tribunal issued a ruling dismissing the Respondent's request to stay the complaint proceedings until the resolution of all issues before the Federal Court. Following the ruling, on May 16, 2024, the Tribunal sent a letter setting deadlines for the Commission's disclosure and for the Complainant to file his Statements of Particulars, disclosure and witness lists. On June 14, 2024, the Tribunal granted an extension for the deadlines originally set. Some additional correspondence was sent to the parties, and, on September 6, 2024, the Tribunal spoke with the Complainant by telephone, and he provided an updated email address. The Registry resent all of the Tribunal's communications to the new email address the Complainant provided.

[9] On October 9, 2024, the Tribunal sent another letter setting a deadline of October 30, 2024, to respond, warning that in the absence of a response the complaint could be dismissed as abandoned. It sent its letter by email and courier, though the courier was unclaimed. It again tried to reach the Complainant by telephone and left a voicemail.

[10] On December 2, 2024, the Tribunal wrote to the Complainant by email and advised that in the absence of a response by December 6, 2024, his complaint would be dismissed as abandoned and his file would be closed.

[11] In the absence of any response or indication from the Complainant that they wish to proceed with their complaint, I find that this matter should be dismissed as abandoned.

[12] The Tribunal has tried to reach the Complainant by every means available using the contact information the Commission provided, and I am satisfied the Complainant received notice of these proceedings and the deadlines to advance his complaint. The Tribunal spoke with the Complainant and resent its emails to the updated email address he provided. The Tribunal also warned the Complainant that his complaint could be dismissed if he failed to respond.

[13] I accept IRCC's submission that the Complainant has, without explanation, failed to respond to the Tribunal's numerous attempts to communicate with him and has not complied with his obligations under Rule 18 of the Tribunal's Rules of Procedure. I have not been presented with information about any challenges or personal circumstances faced by the Complainant to explain his lack of participation in the process such that it would be unfair to dismiss the complaint.

IV. ORDER

[14] The complaint is dismissed as abandoned. The Registry will send a letter to the parties confirming that this file has been closed.
